ALPHA NETSOLUTIONS LAUNCHES DISASTER RECOVERY SERVICE FOR SMALL, MID-SIZED ENTERPRISES

Alpha NetSolutions disaster recovery solution protects Windows, Linux, and Novell systems; data files, Exchange, and SQL Server databases; and provides BareMetal recovery from local Data Protection Unit or offsite vault

COLUMBIA, SC, January 29, 2007 — Unitrends™ (www.unitrends.com), a pioneer in the development of Business Systems Continuity solutions, today announced that Alpha NetSolutions (ANS) of Marlborough, Massachusetts has joined the Unitrends Vaulting Services Provider (VSP) program. ANS decided to launch their electronic data vaulting services using the innovative Unitrends Rapid Recovery technology, including the Data Protection Unit (DPU) and Data Protection Vault (DPV) products.

“New England small and medium sized organizations now have the ability to quickly recover from a system crash, without having to resort to cumbersome or intensive procedures,” said ANS Chief Executive Officer Timothy Shea. “ANS, in partnership with Unitrends, now provides companies with the means to get back in business within minutes, instead of hours or days, so they no longer have to endure long periods of downtime when failures occur. With the ANS Vaulting Services offering, customers are fully protected against site-level and regional disasters as well. ANS provides a complete disaster recovery solution, including the rapid restoration of their entire system at any designated hot site or location specified in their DR plan. This critical capability protects their very ability to do business.”

“Alpha NetSolutions is an ideal partner for Unitrends, with the expertise and the resources to deliver quality solutions for their customers,” said Jerry Gaillard, Unitrends’ Vice President, Eastern Region. “By choosing to make the Rapid Recovery System available throughout their New England market, ANS is playing a significant role in helping Unitrends deliver products that solve customers’ challenges today, and scale with them to help meet their emerging needs as they grow.”
